Dulles Rejects 7-Point Soviet Peace Program

SAN FRANCISCO, June 24 (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles today rejected in strong words Russia's seven-point peace program. He said instead the cold war can be ended by nations observing the U. N. charter, refraining from force and halting subversion against other countries.

Dulles' policy declaration to the U. N. 10th anniversary celebration was the American answer to the challenge of Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov, who had said the next step is up to the United States and the West.

The secretary's 28-minute speech had been endorsed in advance by President Eisenhower. The President opened this conference last Monday with a renewed pledge to follow the spirit of the charter. Heavy applause burst out as Dulles ended. Even Molotov and his delegation politely clapped their hands.

Summing up the American reaction to Molotov's program, Dulles said: "There is one extremely simple method of bringing an end to what is called the 'cold war'—observe the charter of the United Nations; refrain from the use of force or the threat of force in international relations and from the support and direction of subversion against the institutions of other countries."

Molotov's seven points included agreements to withdraw troops from Germany, stop "war propaganda," settle the Far Eastern problems and dismantle military bases on foreign territories.

Dulles said seven points are not needed. It is enough to adhere to the charter.

Former President Harry S. Truman, appearing on the personal invitation of Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld, reaffirmed his support of the U. N. and appealed for continued on second page.

3 Teen-Age Boys Held In 'Lottery' Slaying Of Rival

NEW YORK, June 24 (AP)—Three teen-age boys, facing police and slaying Spanish songs, were jailed today in the "murder-by-lottery" killing of a rival gang member.

The trio was accused of carrying out the slaying last night of Luis Feliciano, 17, after a meeting of the Dragon juvenile gang at which members drew lots to see who would do the job.

A girl—named as the cause of the feud—was held as a delinquent minor.

Feliciano was shot down with a sawed-off rifle while stacking canned goods in an East Harlem grocery where he worked as a delivery boy. He was described as a member of the great Veterans' gang.

Police said Luis (Dillinger) Ramirez, 16, who didn't even know Feliciano, served as triggerman.

The other two, Angelo (Apache) Kalmus, 15, and Florentino (Hammerhead) Villalobos, 17, allegedly went along to point out the victim.

After their arraignment on homicide charges, the three sang in their jail cells, and noted each time a policeman passed. They had to be told to quit grinning when being photographed.

"Don't tell them anything!" one shouted as a buddy was being led off for questioning.

The killing, police said, grew out of a row over a girl between Feliciano and Juan Amador, 17, a Dragon.

In an argument over the girl yesterday, Feliciano allegedly stabbed Amador and sent him to a hospital with nine wounds. Police said this plot of retaliation quickly followed.

A meeting of the Dragons was called by its leader, "Caesar," who said Feliciano had to "burn"—the gang word for die. Slits were drawn from a basket, one with "B" on it, to see who would carry out the assignment. Police said Ramirez got it.

Besides the two finger-men, police said Ramirez also was accompanied by the girl, Carmen Machuca, 14, who supplied the gun, carried it part way to the scene of the shooting, and later hid it.

The gun was recovered from a rooftop.

Police also arrested Emanuel (No-Sit Grampa), 17, as a material witness, and were searching for "Caesar," the gang leader. Grampa was said to have first drawn the "B" slip to do the killing, but backed out, Ramirez allegedly volunteered to take the slip.

Accord Reached With India On Rhesus Monkeys

WASHINGTON, June 24 (AP)—Officials said today American and Indian representatives have reached agreement on continuing imports of Rhesus monkeys used in manufacturing polio vaccine.

The United States has been taking the monkeys at the rate of several thousand a month. At one point the Indian government dissatisfied with how the monkeys were handled in shipment, embargoed all exports.

The embargo was imposed in March. In April, India agreed to keep the supply coming until June 30. This permitted time for a more permanent agreement to be negotiated.

State Department officials said today the negotiations were conducted at New Delhi by an American group composed of representatives of the U. S. Embassy, private companies which manufacture the vaccine, the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, and the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

The monkeys are used in the manner of guinea pigs during laboratory experiments. Also, their kidneys are used as the base for the culture of the live polio virus during the manufacturing process.

Informants said that while no official announcement has been made, the American and Indian representatives have substantially agreed on arrangements, which will keep the shipments of monkeys coming.

A key point of the prospective agreement is that the polio foundation will handle the shipment and distribution of the monkeys, and assure treatment satisfactory to the Indian government. Previously all imports were handled separately.

Realizing that a serious condition exists when the Community Chest is now out of business, and with it unless aid of financial nature is developed, agencies may have to close.

Favored With Gifts 'Brass' Got Drink 'Gobs' Didn't Like

WASHINGTON, June 24 (AP)—House investigators disclosed today that two former Navy officers were showered with jobs and expensive gifts after they bought $177,600 worth of a fruit-flavored drink that sailors didn't like.

William L. Ellis, chief investigator for the General Accounting Office, identified the men as J. E. Halsey and J. E. Moeller, both former lieutenant commanders. He said the case has been referred to the Justice Department.

Ellis told a House Government Operations committee the officers ordered 2,300 cases of "Quix" and 900 cases of "Pony Talk," both manufactured by Hal B. Gombos and Co. of Long Beach, Calif. Total cost for the drink which the Navy never had requested, was $177,600.

He said Halsey, who was assistant director of supply for the Military Sea Transport Service (MSTS) at Seattle, Wash., accepted an automobile purchased by J. E. Caraway and used it between July, 1952, and March, 1953.

Caraway, a former chief petty officer who retired from the Navy in 1940, was civilian manager of one chief petty officers' mess at Seattle, at the time of the purchase in 1952.

Ellis said Caraway was getting a commission of $2 a case plus $250 a month in expenses as sales representative of Apex Distributing Co., Inc., of Los Angeles, a distributor of the Gombos drinks.

He said Moeller, an official in the Navy's procurement branch at Seattle, was hired while still in the Navy at $700 a month plus expenses by Whishire Sales Associates, Inc., of Los Angeles, and other distributor.

Ellis said the drinks turned out to be "fantastic."

Defected GI's Prepare To Quit Red Chinese

Broadcast Says Exit Formalities Are Under Way

TOKYO, Saturday, June 25 (UP)—Three homesick American soldiers who have forsaken their allegiance to communism will leave Red China as soon as exit formalities are completed, Peiping radio said Saturday.

The broadcast said exit procedures are being handled by the Indian Red Cross in China but gave no explanation of this procedure.

The soldiers are Lewis Grigg, 23, of Jacksonville, Texas; Otto G. Bell, 24, of Olympia, Wash.; and William A. Cowart, 23, of Dalton, Ga.

The Peiping dispatch gave no hint where the men will be released or when the exit formalities will be finished.

The brief Peiping dispatch, broadcast in the Chinese language and heard in Tokyo, mentioned only Grigg by name.

It said communications are going on with the Indian Red Cross about the exit procedures for five UN soldiers, including Lewis Grigg, who were given permission to return to their home countries.

"As soon as these procedures are completed the five will leave China."

The broadcast was the first Communist report on the three Americans and two Belgians since the Reds announced one week ago that they had requested and received permission to leave Communist China.

In first revealing their decision to leave Communist China Peiping radio said "our friends who have come to live in a strange environment are liable to meet with many difficulties."

India's role in effecting the GI's departure from China was revealed for the first time Saturday.

Observers in Tokyo believed that Communist China selected the Indian Red Cross because of India's earlier activities with Korean war prisoners and a Peiping desire to increase India's prestige as a peace-maker.

General Claire Chennault, in a brief informal talk last night to a group of Amvets in the Virginia Hotel, said the United States and her allies should hold the islands of Quemoy and Matsu, off the China mainland.

General Chennault, famed flying leader, fourth in the early stages of Chinese conflict before the outbreak of World War Two. His remarks last night were made at the open house party that was part of the opening of the 10th annual convention of the Louisiana Department of Amvets, veterans organization.

General Chennault said two air bases of the Air Force and Navy could be used to hold the two islands considered important to the free world, without the use of foot soldiers.

He said he should prefer a break in the present holdings in this island chain.

The Amvets convention got underway last night.

Speaking at a second night session of the 10th anniversary meeting of the U. N. Mr. Truman reaffirmed his faith in the world organization he helped to frame in 1945.

"In this atomic age, no nation can live in isolation," he said. "There is no hope for any nation other than in the world organization he helped to frame in 1945."

He said the United Nations is the best hope of mankind for the future, for it is the only organization that can prevent the world from being destroyed.

Fears 'Pressure' At Summit Meet Adenauer Issues Urgent Appeal To Get Soldiers Uniformed Before Talks

BONN, Germany, June 24 (AP)—Chancellor Konrad Adenauer today urgently appealed to his followers to enable him to put the first West German soldiers in uniform before the Geneva summit conference.

He declared this was essential to preserve the unity of the West against Russian pressure.

Adenauer was speaking in support of the unpopular temporary bill he has introduced in order to call up the first 6,000 volunteers this summer.

Because of its urgency, the bill, nicknamed the "Bibi Law," has stirred up a lot of opposition in both houses of Parliament.

Adenauer today said a meeting of Free Democrats, deputies of the Bundestag, must be put into effect before the Geneva summit conference begins July 18.

He said West Germany must show it is determined to stand out as a military ally of the West.

He declared any "hesitation" in West Germany would encourage the Russians to make renewed attempts to divide the West.

The Free Democrats, who oppose the bill, claimed it was a "disgrace" to the German people.

Adenauer said he would support any measure that would enable West German soldiers to be in uniform before the Geneva summit conference begins July 18.

Patrol Craft
Crash Lands In American Area

WASHINGTON, June 24 (AP)—The United States announced today that a slow moving, lightly armed Navy patrol plane was attacked Wednesday by two Russian MIG jet fighters over international waters between Alaska and Siberia.

One engine set afire by the attack, the plane crash-landed and burned on remote St. Lawrence Island, American territory, in the Bering Sea. Seven of the 11 crew members were injured.

The incident, the 13th attack on American planes outside war zones since 1950, threw a shadow over forthcoming Big Four peace talks and stirred an angry protest in Congress.

White House press secretary James Flanagan first announced the attack while talking with President Eisenhower in Whitefield, N. H.

Defense officials in Washington then filed in details, saying the American plane was armed only with one .50 caliber machine gun and did not return the single round of fire from the MIGs. Military spokesmen said the plane was on a patrol out of Kodiak, Alaska, a plane that has been routine for the past year, and "reports indicate that there is no explanation for this unprovoked attack."

A. Eisenhower's direction, Secretary of State Dulles promptly took up the issue with Russian Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov at San Francisco, where they are attending the 10th anniversary ceremony.

Committee Trims Proposed Social Security Revision

WASHINGTON, June 24—UP—House Democrats abruptly scaled down their proposed revision of the Social Security laws Friday in an apparent attempt to hold down the cost.

The new plan was tentatively approved at a secret meeting late Friday of the House Ways and Means committee which has jurisdiction over Social Security legislation, informants said.

The Democrats were said to have backed down on their original plan to let all eligible women start drawing Social Security benefits at 60 instead of 65 and to pay benefits to all permanently disabled beneficiaries regardless of age.

Instead, informants reported, the committee decided tentatively to grant Social Security benefits at age 60 only to women who are widowed after they reach 55.

Single women, married women and women who were widowed before reaching 55 still would have to wait until they are 65 to draw benefits, under the plan.

Totally and permanently disabled workers would be eligible for immediate benefits only if they were disabled at age 50 or older. Otherwise they would have to wait until they were 65.

Adenauer Issues

(Continued From First Page) ing the constitution. Such amendments require a two-thirds majority and he is not certain he can get it. One of the coalition members, the Refugee party, is split and half its members threaten to bolt the coalition, thus endangering the government majority.

Adenauer's statement caused consternation. Free Democrats and some of Adenauer's own Christian Democrats protested that the government had long pledged it would firmly base rearmament on the constitution.

If Adenauer sticks to this plan, lively debate can be expected on Monday.

At the same time Defense Minister Theodor Blank was explaining to deputies of other parties that the government will not call up more than 6,000 volunteers under the temporary legislation. Expansion of the forces to the planned 500,000 would not begin until permanent military laws were in force, he promised.

Th. Bundesrat (upper House) has twice expressed dislike for the government's "army bill" but has not yet given its final approval to the bill. It demanded clarification of government intentions and a definition of how parliamentary control of the military was to be established.

It repeated these demands today when dealing with two more rearmament bills. It also tacked on a lot of amendments indicating that it feared the bills were usurping a number of states' rights.

ies of the United Nations.

Hagerly reported Molotov said he was unaware of the incident but would investigate at once and communicate with Dulles again.

St. Lawrence Island, where the two-engine plane crash-landed, is less than 100 miles from Siberia and 200 miles southwest of Nome, Alaska. The wounded crewmen were flown to Elmendorf (Alaska) Air Force Base hospital.

In Congress, the incident touched off bitter reaction and brought expressions of concern about its effects on the Big Four summit conference in Geneva next month.

"This is an incredible way to start a peace conference," said Sen. Capehart (I-Ind.).

"This act unmasks the insincerity of the Russian peace offensive," said Sen. Jackson (D-Wash.), a member of the Armed Services Committee.

Sen. Holland (D-Fla.) said the Russian attack was a matter of great concern especially because American patrol planes in that area are charged with protecting against a surprise attack on American continental installations.

"This is mighty close to home," Holland added. "This is a far more serious incident than the attacks on American planes in the area north of Japan and in other areas."

Sen. Monroney (D-Okla.) called it "a cowardly attack by trigger-happy Russians."

Sen. Morse (D-Ore.) said the United Nations should step into the situation and call the Russians to an accounting.

Sen. Purtell (R-Conn.) said the incident portends an "almost unbelievable" lack of interest by Russia in really lessening world tensions.

The Navy said the plane, a P2V-5, had a speed of 312 miles per hour, scarcely half that of a jet fighter. Two of the crew members were said to have received fractures and five were burned.

Four escaped injury.

The Navy had reported the crash yesterday without mentioning the Russian attack.

Hagerly, in announcing the attack, used the phrase "crash-landing." Asked if that meant the plane was shot down, he replied, "I did not say that."

His terse announcement did not leave words about the origin of the attack. He said the Navy Neptune patrol plane, while on a routine flight over international waters in the Bering Strait area, "was fired upon by Soviet planes."

He added that the commander of the Navy plane (Lt. R. H. Fischer, 30, Del Ray Oaks, Calif.), "was forced to make a crash landing on St. Lawrence Island in American territory."

"The attack on our plane was inexplicable and unwarranted," Hagerly said.

Hagerly said word of the shooting first reached President Eisenhower yesterday when he was at Chitenden, Vt. Eisenhower conferred by telephone today with Herbert Hoover Jr., undersecretary of state, who was in Washington. In the room with Hoover were Secretary of Defense Wilson, Adm. Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, and Deputy Secretary of Defense Robert Anderson.

Hagerly conferred by telephone with Dulles in San Francisco. He said Dulles discussed the incident with Molotov after Dulles' speech to the United Nations.

The Navy said another plane sighted the four uninjured crew members near the scene of the wreckage Wednesday night. The attack took place about 10 o'clock in the morning.

In the far North's virtual round-the-clock daylight, the crew members were rescued and flown to the hospital.

Charles Shields, father of Airman Charles W. Shields, 21, of Claxson, Mich., one of the crew members, said he had talked with the Elmendorf hospital and learned that his son had burned hands.

POLICE FIND HIM IN JAIL
CANDEN, N. J., June 24 (AP)—State police Friday called off their search for Earl E. Wentzel, 63, of Port Clinton, Pa., who had been reported missing since last Saturday. He was found in the Camden county jail on a drunken driving charge.

Segregation Bill Passes Ala. Senate

MONTGOMERY, Ala., June 24—The Alabama Senate unanimously passed a bill aimed at continuing school segregation Friday, then received a resolution calling for the impeachment of U.S. Supreme Court justices.

By a 32-0 vote, the upper house passed a measure granting almost unlimited power to local school boards for the placement of students. The bill also stated that no students can be compelled to attend schools where there is "commingling of the races."

The proposal, which now goes to the House, makes no changes in the state constitution but voids several code sections referring to segregated schools in an effort to bypass Supreme Court decrees banning separate schools for Negroes and whites.

Students could be segregated on the basis of sex under the bill and Sen. Sam Hughes said "it is thought that this would certainly be done in the event of a general mixing of races in school."

Shortly after passage of the measure, Sen. Albert Davis introduced a resolution calling for impeachment of the Supreme Court justices, accusing them of "an unconstitutional usurpation of legislative authority" in the court's anti-segregation decrees.

Sen. John E. Moss Jr., said Friday his subcommittee looking into government information policies will take the view that federal agencies don't have to "spoon-feed" the American public.

The California Democrat said he believes national security is the only valid ground for withholding information about the government. And even that test should be applied with restraint, he said.

The other two members of the House Government Operations subcommittee generally agreed with Moss.

"I start from the presumption that people are entitled to all the information about their government," Rep. Dante B. Fascell (D-Fla.) told a reporter.

Rep. Clare E. Hoffman (R-Mich.) said that "speaking generally, the press is entitled to know." But he said there are exceptions and that he thinks the press sometimes makes issues where none really exist.

The subcommittee was set up to study charges "that government departments and agencies have denied or withheld pertinent and timely information from those who are entitled to receive it."

Moss indicated he will give more attention to Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson's curb on military news that is not "constructive."

Wilson has said this would not be used as a "cover-up" for possible department mistakes. But Moss said it would be easy for officials to confuse the terms "constructive" and "favorable."

Charge Against Livingston School Supt. Dismissed

LIVINGSTON, La., June 24 (AP)—District Judge Horace Reid today dismissed a charge that Watson Bankston, Livingston Parish school superintendent, violated the public records law by refusing to reveal school board records.

Reid said "sufficient intent" to violate the law was not shown by Jones, contending Bankston refused June 9 to show him records dealing with school construction.

Jones later filed a civil action to force Bankston to show him the records. He withdrew the suit Wednesday, saying Bankston had let him see the books.

Bankston said he intended to show the records and had called assistant district attorney W. M. Dawkins. Dawkins testified Jones and his three witnesses, Dave Clark, James B. Meaders and John W. Springs, all of Denham Springs, were gone when he arrived. The charge was filed that same day.

Cecil J. Mallette Rites Today

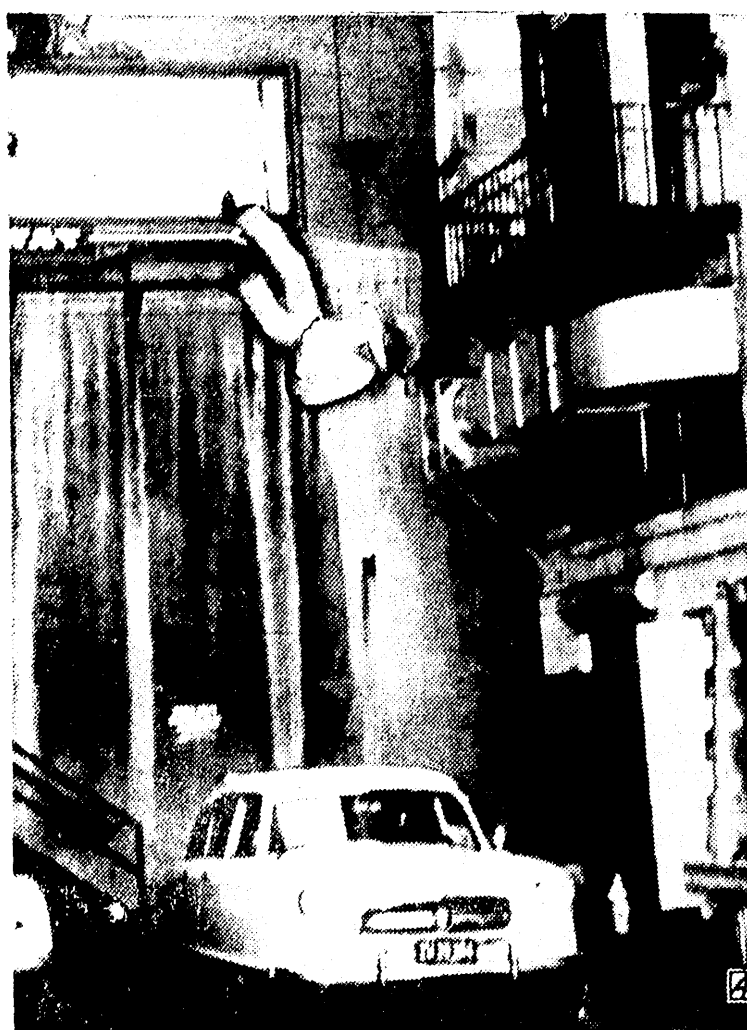

BASTROP, June 24 (Special)—Funeral services for Cecil J. Mallette, 76, will be held at 4 p.m. Saturday in the chapel of Blackwell Golden Funeral Home in Bastrop, with the Rev. Billy Pomeroy officiating.

Mallette died at 8:10 a.m. Friday, after an illness of about two weeks. He had lived in Morehouse parish all his life, and was a member of the Collingsworth Methodist Church.

Interment will be in the Mallette family cemetery near Bastrop.

Survivors include one brother, Ernest Mallette, Bastrop, four sisters, Mrs. May Chesire, Mrs. Lily McIntire, Mrs. Carrie Bridges and Mrs. Virginia Handy, all of Bastrop; several nieces and nephews.

Funeralbearers will be Bob Harp, Tom Naff, Elmer DeFrost, Larkin White, Earnest Brister and Walter White.

STRANGER FALLING TO DEATH—An unidentified man about 60 years old falls to his death from the 11th floor ledge of a downtown building in Los Angeles. Somersaulting twice, the body narrowly missed striking the automobile at right and landed on paved parking lot. This picture was made by Los Angeles Times Staff Photographer Robert O. disarmament so effective that no nation would have sufficient arms to wage a successful war.

Truman opened the 1945 founding conference by telephone from Washington soon after becoming president. He came here for the closing ceremonies on June 26, 1945. This conference will adjourn Sunday afternoon after, it is expected, accepting a San Francisco declaration on peace.

The former President, a veteran of the Potsdam conference of 1945, welcomed the coming meetings between President Eisenhower and the other big-power chieftains. He appeared also to approve the cautious course being taken by President Eisenhower.

"It may not be possible to make sudden or vast strides in these conferences," he said, but agreement even in some things will be a gain. Agreement even in little things may be a foundation on which greater things can be built."

Dulles looked ahead with considerable hope to the Big Four chiefs of government in Geneva next month. President Eisenhower said he would take to Geneva with him the spirit of the U. N. charter and urged other chiefs to do the same.

Dulles said the United States hopes to find this spirit of adherence to the charter shared at Geneva.

"If so," he continued, "we can find new procedures, or at least develop a new impetus which will help to solve some of these vast and stubborn problems that still confront us."

"We shall not, at Geneva, assume to act as a world directorate with the right to determine the destinies of others. Good solutions do not come from such a mood. We shall seek to find procedures such that all nations directly concerned can fully assert whatever rights and views they have."

Molotov, who has been trying to radiate sweetness among the U. N. delegates, listed in his speech matters as the end of the Korean War and the Indochina fighting, the Austrian treaty and a general easing of tensions as achievements due in a large measure to Moscow's "peace" policy.

Dulles referred to these claims by one and contended, with some words of sarcasm, that it is strange to hear this from those who struggled so long to prevent these very actions.

"Some say that what has happened marks the beginning of an era," Dulles said. "I believe that can be. Certainly the United States, I pledge you, will do all that lies within its power to make it so. But we do not forget, we dare not forget, that some of those who now hail the recent developments are precisely those who sought for years to stop them."

A plan of this sort was worked with complete success in California and it is to be studied here in careful manner.

For the first time, so far as known, the Northeast Louisiana State college has held election of officers, which resulted in the naming of Helen Hawkins Hood, West Monroe, as president; Boots Slocum, Bonita, vice-president; and Sally Ware Smith, Monroe, secretary-treasurer.

All these seem to be well suited to their offices of trust. Especially are we pleased that Mrs. Hood received the honor of filling the presidency. Her father, Lee Hawkins, publisher of the West Monroe Ouachita Citizen, was for many years foreman of the News-Star before it merged with the World, and also he served for a short time in that capacity.

Also Mrs. Hood was named several years ago as "Woman of the Year" by the women's clubs of the Twin Cities.

ed the board to make a start in complying with the Supreme Court ruling.

In an interview over radio station WJBO, Rainach termed the interracial committee suggested by the petition "absolutely fruitless as well as a serious affront on the dignity of the state. It is against the law to have integration in Louisiana and these laws have never even been challenged in court."

"We do not intend by any stretch of the imagination to mix whites and Negroes in our schools, regardless of the Supreme Court decision."

"We know how to run our affairs better than any nine men who phlopped their decisions on Communist philosophy."

Rainach said the state would "would fight integration with every resource," and added, "the NAACP is not welcome in Louisiana. It may as well take its Communist ideas off to countries where they will be better appreciated."

The local NAACP branch suggested three steps to be taken by an Aug. 1 deadline to meet the "good faith in compliance" required by the Supreme Court in its enforcement decree for the historic decision banning public school segregation.

4th Annual Negro Field Day Held At Experiment Sta.

CALHOUN, June 24 (Special)—An estimated 250 Negroes from throughout northeast Louisiana were on hand here today for the Fourth Annual Negro Field Day at the Northeast Louisiana Agricultural Experiment Station.

During the morning the visiting farmers were taken on a series of tours of the various experimental plots at the station. At each plot the agriculturalist in charge would tell of the latest developments made at the station in regard to that crop. They also explained the fertilization, treatment of diseases, insects and the like in regard to that particular crop.

"It is our aim," said R. J. Courtney of the state agriculture service, who presided at the field day activities, "to associate the crops with the needs of each farmer. We try to tell him what variety of the crop is best suited for his farm, and all the particulars related to it."

Among the experimental plots examined by the visitors and the agent in charge of each were peaches with Henry Bonner, Negro County Agent for Ouachita parish in charge; watermelons, R. L. Payne, vocational agriculturalist for Richwood community; cowpeas and sweet corn, Arthur Britton and Willie Senley, agricultural business; corn and cotton, D. C. Mitchell, Negro County agent for Catahoula parish and Eugene Martin, vocational agriculture teacher at Central High School, Calhoun; tomatoes, Wesley Crawford, Negro County Agent for Franklin parish; and sweet potatoes, L. C. Henry, vocational agriculture teacher at Synchronization.

Also participating in the day's activities were L. A. Byrd, Negro County Agent for Claiborne parish and Lonnie Cook, Negro County Agent for Morehouse parish.

Following the tours the visitors viewed a motion picture pertaining to agriculture and home making, under the direction of Ashford Williams, of the state agriculture service.

The afternoon program will include music by the Ouachita Parish Negro 4-H Club Quartet, and will be highlighted by an address by M. J. Clark, itinerant teacher-trainer of agriculture education at Southern University.

Greetings and a summary of the day's activities will be by Ralph S. Woodward, superintendent of the experiment station.

Among the parishes represented at the field day were Ouachita, Webster, Catahoula, Franklin, Morehouse and Claiborne.

Ex-Con Admits Raping Girl, 15

ROME, Ga., Jan. 24—UP—A paroled ex-convict admitted Friday the rape-lying of a pretty 14-year-old girl he said he lured from a backyard sunbath with a promise to take her swimming.

Police said Willie Grady Cochran, 37, a sawmill worker with a criminal record dating back 15 years, told them "I did it" and blurted out his confession when they neared an isolated northwest Georgia border after a night of driving around to similar lonely spots.

Rome Police Chief Smith Horton said Floyd County Sheriff Joe Allyn said Cochran told him he raped blonde, innocent Patricia Ann Cook, strangled her on "an impulse" and then tossed her body, wrapped in a quilt and weighted with a monkey wrench, from the bridge into the Etowah River.

Horton immediately ordered dragging operations begun in the river in an effort to recover the girl's body. Cochran was whisked to Atlanta for questioning, as feeling was reported running high here ever since the child disappeared four days ago.

Cochran was sentenced to a total of some 50 years for offenses ranging from robbery to rape since he was first arrested in 1940 and broke out of prison four times.

Rayville Man Gets Two-Year Term On Burglary Count

A Rayville man was sentenced to two years in the state prison by Judge Jesse Heard Friday in a session of fourth district court. He was Elwyn Edward Johnson, 21, Rayville, charged with burglary in a room of a local hotel. Other cases that came before Judge Heard Friday were:

Andrew Watson, Jr., fined $300 and costs or 90 days in jail on a drunk driving charge.

Lee Murphy, arrested on a peace warrant for disturbing the peace, drew a sentence of 30 days in jail and was placed under a $750 peace bond.

Johnny Holmes, charged with reckless driving, was fined $100 and costs.

Jake Brass was fined $50 and costs on a reckless driving charge.

Otis L. Ainsworth, charged with speeding, was fined $75 and costs.

Frank Carroll, Jr., pleading guilty on a charge of an $8 theft, was sentenced to 30 days in jail, sentence suspended.

William A. Thompson drew a fine of $25 and costs or 25 days in jail on a charge of disturbing the peace.

Officer Whittington Has Slight Attack

A Monroe city policeman was hospitalized Thursday night after a possible heart attack. He was resting better last night, his nurse said.

Officer M. E. Whittington was taken to the Bendel Wright Clinic about 8 p.m. Thursday after he reportedly suffered a heart attack while riding in a patrol car. Whittington's nurse said last night that he was resting somewhat better but that a persistent headache had not entirely left him.

A cardiograph test was given the patient Friday but the results were not available last night.

New Safety Standards Cause Unexpected Delay In Release Of Vaccine

WASHINGTON, June 24 (AP)—Revised safety standards evidently are bringing delays in release of Salk polio vaccine which were not anticipated a month ago. This has further clouded the picture as to when vaccine may become available for general use among children.

A survey of all six manufacturers today indicated large amounts may not be available until mid-July, and it may be August or later before the flow of vaccine hits full scale.

A spokesman for the National Institutes of Health said apparently it will be at least another week or 10 days before any further vaccine is released at all.

Four weeks ago today, in announcing the new safety standards on May 27, Surgeon Gen. Leonard A. Scheele of the Public Health Service told reporters he was "very optimistic" vaccine would be flowing from the manufacturers "very shortly."

He also said then, "It appears quite certain that some vaccine will be cleared next week, and that there will be progressive releases thereafter."

However, the only release of new vaccine since that date was on June 6, for about one million shots made by Eli Lilly Co., Indianapolis. On June 1 some 200,000 shots unused from lots previously cleared, were recleared. This vaccine was made by Wyeth Laboratories, Marietta, Pa., and Pittman-Moore Co., Zionsville, Ind.

There have been no other releases since May 27.

Yesterday Scheele reaffirmed the official position of the Public Health Service that the vaccine "is effective and is safe" and again endorsed its manufacture and use.

All current production is going to the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis for free shots for second and first-grade school children. In New York, a Foundation spokesman said roughly six million more cubic centimeters (each cc. makes one shot) would be needed to complete inoculations for the first and second graders who want them.

Dr. Hart Van Riper, medical director of the Foundation, said first shots already have been made available to all children included in the program, but that most of the second or "booster" shots have not been given.

He said the estimated need of six million cubic centimeters is based on past percentages of acceptance. Some parents have declined to have their children vaccinated.

Dr. Van Riper said the new safety standards, especially new tests after the vaccine is in its final bottles, have added about three weeks to the original 120-day production and testing process.

After that program is completed, the vaccine will be handled under a voluntary allocation and distribution program, with other children from 5 through 9 years of age getting first priority.

However, it appeared unlikely very much could be ready for the 5-9 program before late July or August, at the earliest.

The National Institutes of Health, the Public Health Service and the Welfare Department declined to give out any figures on the supply situation.

A Senator's Views On Cotton Problems

Sen. James O. Eastland of Mississippi, addressing a Louisiana Farm Bureau Federation cotton meeting in Rayville, this day, outlined in detail the plight of the American cotton farmer and made some constructive suggestions for remedial action.

There are a few significant items in his analysis of the cotton farmer's predicament.

"The average cotton acreage in the world will be about 11 million acres, with cotton in the United States being about 4 million acres during a recent period."

But the world average per acre has been restricted, with plantings for 1955 being limited to about 150 million acres, yet since 1930 cotton acreage in other countries of the free world has increased to more than 10 million acres, a gain of nearly 50 per cent. Foreign cotton production has risen by 10 million bales since the end of World War II, largely through American aid to the nations involved.

Production of synthetic fibers abroad, many of these being competitive with cotton, has increased 500 per cent since 1945. This increase translated into cotton acreage, would amount to 25 million acres.

Domestic cotton production is increasing at a rate equal to a million bales of cotton over a two-year period. Total synthetic fiber production in America amounts to the equivalent of 45 million bales of cotton annually.

American cotton has almost been priced out of the world market.

Sen. Eastland declared, "It seems obvious to me, in the light of cotton's position today, that long-standing government policies which have resulted in lost markets and shrinking acreage must be changed."

A cotton subcommittee of the Senate Agriculture and Forestry Committee held hearings under chairmanship of Sen. Eastland, and made a unanimous report which said in part:

"There is something basically wrong with any farm program and government policy that denies the right to produce and sell their production to a hungry and naked world. We have been unable to see American cotton in international trade volume sufficient to sustain the United States cotton-producing economy. A farm program cannot exist on price alone, nor can farm people anticipate continuous prosperity under a program that gives away a large part of its production."

"The one certain result of the present farm program in its lack of sound cotton policy by the United States Government is the destruction of the American cotton-producing industry. All cotton growers will pay a terrible price, but the most terrific impact will fall upon the high-cost producing areas of the Southeast. It is fundamental that acreage reduction is no solution to the problems of the United States cotton farmer, for in the long run it will only aggravate his problems. We must have a program which will restructure lost markets, protect the historic markets for the American cotton farmer, and move American cotton into consumption in sufficient volume to permit a prosperous cotton-producing economy."

"Cotton growers will have to decide whether or not they desire to recapture world cotton markets, compete with synthetic fibers, and regain a decent acreage to plant in cotton. The only way they can accomplish this is to be competitive price-wise. For volume production, producers will have to sacrifice price to assist in becoming competitive with both synthetics and foreign cotton production. A farm program which does not move farm commodities into consumption is doomed to failure. Its failure will prove disastrous to the farmers who are supposed to benefit therefrom. A number of steps must be taken to correct the present deplorable situation, to prevent its further deterioration, and to recapture rayon and cotton export markets in order for farmers to plant cotton acreages large enough to operate their farms efficiently and to secure a price sufficient to generate prosperity. Any program must, of course, be based upon support prices which are adequate to preserve the farmer's economy and prevent the weakening of his credit structure."

The cotton subcommittee urged a three-point long-range program to meet the serious situation confronting American cotton:

"First, deposits in commodity credit corporation stocks competitively to meet the demand as rapidly as possible in an orderly manner, with the purpose of recapturing export markets."

"Second, a program of price support, whereby the price of cotton is guaranteed and a constant production with no excess supply, to prevent accumulation of excessive government stocks and to avoid further expansion of export markets for American cotton."

"Third, a cotton farmer should be given an opportunity to receive a fair and equitable small acreage allotment, with a price support, as presently applied and provided for in the cotton program, to support a farmer's cotton production and to prevent the price support loss."

Uptide Down Economics

The cotton subcommittee of the Senate Agriculture and Forestry Committee, in its report, pointed out the fact that the cotton farmer is in a position of economic disadvantage. The report stated that the cotton farmer is in a position of economic disadvantage, and that the cotton farmer is in a position of economic disadvantage.

The report also pointed out that the cotton farmer is in a position of economic disadvantage, and that the cotton farmer is in a position of economic disadvantage. The report also pointed out that the cotton farmer is in a position of economic disadvantage, and that the cotton farmer is in a position of economic disadvantage.

George Sokolsky

THESE DAYS Immigration

Violent excitement is being generated over the McCarran-Walter Immigration Act with a view to having it "humanized," which is a word of emotional rather than reason content. The realistic question that seems not to be asked these days is:

1. Do we want or need any more immigrants?

2. If we do need immigrants, what kind do we need? Shall we accept them according to quotas, discrimination to the American culture, or haphazard?

Those who oppose the current restrictions upon immigration about the view that suffering humanity must have a place to go to and that the United States is as good a place as any for them to come to. Personally, I can have no private objection to such a position, as both my parents were immigrants and had they not been admitted into this country, I, naturally, would not have been native to it. I might today be living in fear and trembling in Bialystok or maybe by now I should have been killed either by Hitler or by Stalin.

But the public position is different. We may have a population of 165 million. First, it is a matter for scientific appraisal, not for political agitation, to determine how much of a population on 3 million square miles can maintain an American standard of living.

Secondly, it is a matter of sociological study to provide data on the assimilability of varieties of peoples in our culture. For a part there are those who do not regard this as important, who believe that a conflict of cultures within the United States will come in better than the preservation of our traditions. As all Americans, with the exception of the native Indians, are the descendants of immigrants, a cost and well documented experience has been provided to guide our judgments. Certainly the population pattern of the United States has been radically altered since 1900.

Immigration cannot be an afterthought. Each new-wave becomes the precursor of an increasing part of the population. The question ought to be whether it is more beneficial to include diverse cultures or to have Northern and Western European who are of identical background to the early American settlers. This point might be made that those who are instant upon planning our future reject the idea that there might be some planning about immigration. Actually none of these questions are realistic in the present political climate. Pressure organizations exist among each former immigrant group which favor their own kind. These groups are very powerful, particularly in large cities and in politically crucial states. Also there are those who believe that human suffering should be dealt with urgently and that a theoretical discussion of immigration problems is today academic and of no value. Also, on both sides of the question there are demagogues who blur the issue in their own private interest.

The McCarran-Walter Immigration Act is a codification of some 200 laws on the subject of immigration and naturalization. It took four and a half years of investigation and hearings to bring the bill before Congress. It was passed in July 1952 over President Truman's veto.

The quota system was in existence when the bill was passed and was included in it. This quota system provides that each country outside the Western Hemisphere may send immigrants to this country each year equal to one-sixth of one percent of such nationals who had reached the United States by 1920. By this method, immigration is established on a cultural rather than a vocational basis. Communists, Nazis, Fascists, are not to be admitted.

One of the most serious problems that faces the United States is the illegal entry of immigrants who come across our borders without the exercise of any jurisdiction. It has been variously estimated that between 3 million and 5 million illegal aliens live in the United States. Nobody can know exactly. If it is possible to enter illegally, and such an entry becomes legitimate as a sort of squatter's right, why have any immigration laws at all?

In a word, this is not a question for shouting and shrieking on one side or the other. It remains a problem for scientific investigation and for decision on the basis of facts. Vote-getting speeches by politicians do not help the country to reach a decision; they only serve those who get votes that way. (Copyright 1955, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

New School Buildings

We are going to have a lot of new school buildings. That is true, for we need them acutely. What sort of buildings will we get? Who is going to decide that and who is to build them?

These are important questions for the community in which the new building will rise. If the whole matter is left to the usual authorities without reference and without conferences between them and the leading members of the school community, strange things will happen as they have in the past. The new building may be placed in the wrong spot. Somebody who knows somebody may have just the right lot for it, and that lot may be just the wrong one for the convenience of the school community.

What kind of building and what sort of equipment? Again, the community needs should decide, but unless residents better themselves and make themselves better before the first spade ceremonies are held, they may be surprised by what they get.

What will the building cost? Will it cost so much that there will be no money to staff it effectively? This must be studied before the contracts are let. The quality of the teachers is what decides the effectiveness of the school. The teacher is the school. If the building is to be a success, the teachers should be the first to be considered, there will be no school in the meaning of that word. The building can be first-rate within the budget, only if it allows for first-rate teachers. The simple functional building with a good play space is what is needed.

In my experience, a committee of citizens of the community—each having children who will attend the school—should be appointed as a watchdog of the project. The committee should serve from the start of the proceedings to the opening day. This committee should be composed of businessmen, parents, and at least two mothers.

There is a notion that building the school, staffing and running it is the sole right of a few men, usually the Board of Education. Because the parents of the school children are busy people, the Board becomes an automatic take on an almost authoritative air, and frightens away the parents whose interest in the school is keen.

What is needed is an alert parent group which would appoint a School Committee to cooperate with the local Board to listen to, discuss, to prevent their ideas, to watch from the time the contract is let until the flag flies on opening day. Schools are parents' business and parents should attend to them.

IN WASHINGTON

Operation Alert

Washington has had many a good laugh at federal officialdom since the simulated H-bomb test, but the nation's capital a moment after noon on Wednesday, June 15, but the exercise, which kept President Eisenhower in pretended hiding for three days, emphatically was not a waste of time.

Neither were similar exercises carried out all over the country, though some of them were as humbling as a group of Englishmen trying baseball for the first time. If the United States is to take a long range view of the existing bombing threat its population must realize that nobody can predict what city or district might be a target in any all-out bombing.

As many people said, "If the possibilities of mass bombing are as bad as they say, why try to resist at all? Might just as well sit on the front steps and wait for it to drop."

The way the experiment worked out here, those folks had a point. But it could be made because of the gross inefficiency of the whole exercise, directed by a politician and his jobholder assistants, accompanied by the indifference of the executive and legislative branches of the government.

That of itself made the exercise worth while, for it now becomes the responsibility of the President of the United States, as chief of the executive establishment, to organize an efficient program for evacuation of cities in event of attack by nuclear weapons, including long range guided missiles.

The present Civil Defense Administration, headed by former Gov. Karl F. Peterson of Nebraska, has not had a plan to come with the H-bomb since Communism was announced that it had that weapon. The instructions sent out through local civil defense officials are based on the "out or town in a hurry" theory. The mid-line evacuation demonstrated for the most part that the plan is a desperate one, and that evacuation must be planned on at least a 24-hour warning basis. Depending on the probability of the target, the outlying country must be prepared to absorb such evacuating families at a distance beyond the bomb fallout range.

Meanwhile, the extension of warning networks together with the evacuation plan for a city in years has changed the long range plan to a point where any chance of an attack entirely without warning, such as that at Pearl Harbor, has been reduced to a minimum. A query about whether the Sabbath should be observed would be a desperation move by our enemies, and could be anticipated in ample time for orderly evacuation.

On the whole, people in the areas of a real danger should be good hosts in their homes. They should be good hosts in their homes. They should be good hosts in their homes.

They should be good hosts in their homes. They should be good hosts in their homes. They should be good hosts in their homes.

Worry Clinic

By Dr. George W. Crane

Mary asks a question that should be of interest to all church members and also to the 70 million religious "orphans" in America who belong to no church whatever. Churches are the greatest source of divorce and juvenile delinquency so go to your neighborhood church tomorrow and become active therein.

Case O-366: Mary E., aged 18, is a college freshman.

"Dr. Crane, do you think there is as much quarrelling between various church denominations nowadays, as was true in the past?" she began.

"I am writing a paper on this subject and am supposed to interview several people in different fields."

"So would you please tell me your frank opinion of this matter?"

Church Family

The various sects of the Christian Church are much like the boys and girls in a large family.

The latter will quarrel over many petty matters within the home, yet they usually cooperate on major issues and love each other.

And their parents often overlook the quarrelling, realizing that some of the friction is due to the excessive energy and zeal of growing children.

God probably looks upon the various sects among his churches as a benevolent human father regards the minor feuds between his children.

And as we human beings grow more understanding of matters, we do find much less feuding between sects of the various churches.

For example, last autumn the Methodist Church of St. Charles, Illinois, gave its church building and parsonage to a neighboring Lutheran Church as an outright gift.

The vote was unanimous to present this $85,000 church plant to St. Mary's Lutheran Church of the Missouri Synod.

The Methodists had just received a beautiful new church building which was the gift of Col. Edward J. Baker, of St. Charles.

So they could have sold the old property. But when they found that the Lutherans had outgrown their own church edifice and needed larger quarters, they decided to make an outright gift of the Methodist building and parsonage.

This evidence of cooperation and brotherly love is typical of most of our modern churches today.

Oh, the churches may still differ in many minor, man-made bits of ritual. But on fundamentals they usually agree closely.

Dr. Charles Ray Goff, pastor of the skyscraper church in the heart of Chicago's Loop, asks these questions of all prospective members: (1) Do you accept the story of the Christian faith as outlined in the New Testament?

(2) While you are a member church will you agree to support such evangelizing families at a distance beyond the bomb fallout range.

Meanwhile, the extension of warning networks together with the evacuation plan for a city in years has changed the long range plan to a point where any chance of an attack entirely without warning, such as that at Pearl Harbor, has been reduced to a minimum. A query about whether the Sabbath should be observed would be a desperation move by our enemies, and could be anticipated in ample time for orderly evacuation.

On the whole, people in the areas of a real danger should be good hosts in their homes. They should be good hosts in their homes. They should be good hosts in their homes.

They should be good hosts in their homes. They should be good hosts in their homes. They should be good hosts in their homes.

They should be good hosts in their homes. They should be good hosts in their homes. They should be good hosts in their homes.

They should be good hosts in their homes. They should be good hosts in their homes. They should be good hosts in their homes.

They should be good hosts in their homes. They should be good hosts in their homes. They should be good hosts in their homes.

They should be good hosts in their homes. They should be good hosts in their homes. They should be good hosts in their homes.

Fiance Did It

Miss Knight To Marry With Cut Over One Eye

HOLLYWOOD, June 24 (AP)—The pretty young daughter of Gov. Goodwin Knight has a "prize fight" cut over one eye—inflicted by the man she's to wed tomorrow night at the executive mansion in Sacramento.

But tall, blonde 21-year-old Carolyn Knight is bothered not a whit. She says it was her own fault for zigging when she should have zagged while she and her fiancé, Charles Weedman Jr., 27-year-old University of Southern California law student, were watching Archie Moore defeat Bobo Olson on a televised fight for the light heavyweight championship last Wednesday night.

"Chuck and I were watching the fight with some friends," said Miss Knight. "He was sparring around, demonstrating his version of the knockout punch. I guess I ducked the wrong way. His finger-nail flicked me over the eyebrow."

She said she guesses the photographers "can touch up the pictures tomorrow night so the mercuriochrome won't show."

Carolyn, a clerk-typist in the story department at Columbia Pictures here, started a vacation today. She plans to resume work after a honeymoon in San Francisco and hopes to eventually become a scenarist.

Threaten Action

NAACP Asks End To Segregation In E. Baton Rouge

BATON ROUGE, June 24 (AP)—The NAACP today asked the East Baton Rouge Parish school board to take immediate steps toward ending segregation in parish schools or face possible legal action.

The local branch of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People suggested three steps to be taken by Aug. 1 to meet the "good faith in compliance" required by the U.S. Supreme Court in its enforcement decree for the decision banning public school segregation.

Dr. C. J. Gilliam, chairman of the local administrative committee, said the NAACP didn't expect school segregation to end by Aug. 1, or even this year.

"What we want is for the school board to make some sort of move to indicate the intent to comply with the Supreme Court ruling," he said.

If no action, Gilliam said, "then we would have no other choice but to take it to court."

Ike's Son Among 610 Graduates Of Army College

FT. LEAVENWORTH, Kan., June 24 (AP)—President Eisenhower's son was among the 610 armed forces officers from the United States 35 allied nations to graduate today from the Army's Command & General Staff College.

The name of Maj. John Eisenhower, however, was not among the top 10 officers of the class. His father stood first among the honor graduates in a class 26 years ago at the college.

Maj. Eisenhower said he and his wife, Barbara, will leave next Wednesday for Ft. Sheridan, Ill., to visit her parents, Col. and Mrs. P. W. Thompson, and rejoin their three children, Dwight David, 7; Barbara Ann, 6; and Susan Elaine, 3.

The Eisenhower family will be in Washington the weekend of July 8, he said, and he will report to his new station at Ft. Belvoir, Va., July 11. The major will be an instructor in the combined arms section of the Engineers' School there.

Marshfield Plans New Defense In Drug Conviction

An attorney for Artie Marshfield, convicted on a charge of illegal possession of narcotics, marijuana, said late Friday that an appeal will be made should Judge Jesse Heard turn thumbs down on a motion filed earlier in the day in Fourth District Court.

Judge Heard, after a hearing yesterday, took the case under advisement. His opinion is expected Monday.

Marshfield's attorney filed a motion Friday morning to set aside the conviction of a 12-man jury earlier this year and hold a new trial.

The original charge was lodged against Marshfield in June, 1951.

If the motion receives favorable action from the court, a new trial probably will be held in the fall term of court in November.

to take it to court."

The Supreme Court last month placed enforcement of its segregation ruling in the hands of federal district courts and told them to push integration with due regard to local conditions.

The NAACP petition sent to the school board suggested:

1. Formation of an interracial committee to discuss ways and means of implementing the high court ruling.

2. Elimination of racial reference to all schools and school board property, including records.

3. Elimination of the classification of students and teachers based on race or color.

New Variety Pea Is Available On Parish Markets

A new variety of crowder pea—the Louisiana Purchase—which ranks at the top in its class for flavor, quality and high shelling percentage, is coming into market now from many farms around Ouachita parish.

The variety, developed at the Calhoun Experiment by horticulturist Chester Taylor, is being made available to the public for kitchen use for the first time since its naming and release two years ago.

Reason for this is that it took some time to increase the quantity of seed crops of the new pea, so general distribution among growers could be made. Most growers in the area are now growing it for seed purposes.

However, according to County Agent J. J. Joyce, Jr., there is a large acreage of Louisiana Purchase around the parish, and the first peas started coming into the Twin Cities market this week. Next week, there should be an abundance of them, he added.

In tests conducted throughout the south, the Purchase outyielded many leading varieties, and also surpassed them in quality, sugar content, flavor, ability to hold their color, and adaptability for use in deep freeze storing as well as canning.

This variety of pea also yields more food and less shell than the other leading varieties tested in southern areas, Joyce said. Last year when only limited quantities of seed were available they sold to growers at one dollar a pound.

However, with a big crop ripening in the parish area, housewives who buy them in quantity at the farm or sales counters near the fields, can get them at prices that will go easy on the budget, Joyce said.

While some of the peas will be available on local markets, many will be sold at the farms where they are produced. Some will be available at the canning center located on the high school grounds in Calhoun, which is near one of the Louisiana Purchase pea crop centers.

Agent Joyce said that Chester Taylor of the North Louisiana Agricultural Experiment Station, Calhoun, who developed the variety, can supply information on where growers with ripening peas can be located.

City Court

MONROE

Judge W. M. Harper disposed of the following cases in city court Friday:

Mack Taylor, 53, Barlow Street, was fined $25 or 25 days in jail default on each of two separate charges of fighting and disturbing the peace.

Reginald Boulware, West Monroe, drew a fine of $35.50 or 37 1/2 days in jail default on a charge of resisting arrest and a fine of $15 or seven days default on a drunk charge.

Jack Orschell, 30, Dallas, Tex., charged with disturbing the peace, was fined $25, bond forfeited.

Mack Wallace, 917 Adams Street, was fined $5 or five days default on a charge of running a red traffic signal.

WEST MONROE

Three persons, charged with drunk driving, were fined $300.50 or 90 days in jail default each in West Monroe city court Friday by Judge Jasper E. Jones.

They were: Max Livingston, 25, Rayville, La.; Harold G. Monier, 26, Ruston, La.; and Hansford Hardy Walters, 46, 610 Wood Street, West Monroe.

Other cases disposed of by Judge Jones yesterday were:

Jay Jagers, 48, 908 North Sixth, West Monroe, charged with selling beer on Sunday, was fined $50 or 50 days default and beer license revoked.

A. E. Windham, 17, Route One, West Monroe, was fined $20.50, bond forfeited, on a reckless driving charge.

Dorrie Little Walker, 43, 805 Arkansas Road, West Monroe, was fined $20.50, bond forfeited, on a speeding charge.

Murphy A. Tamahill, 45, Olla, La., was sentenced to pay a $15 fine or serve 15 days in jail default, sentence suspended, on a charge of disturbing the peace.

Lonnie H. Bridges, 63, Calhoun, drew a fine of $15 or 15 days default on a charge of disturbing the peace.

George T. Hargrove, 26, Stella Street, West Monroe, was fined $5.50, bond forfeited, on a charge of making a "U" turn in 300 block of Trenton Street.

TWICE TOO MUCH

CHICAGO, June 24 (AP)—Anderson C. Brown came into Court Thursday on a drunk driving charge, but his case was delayed. Two hours later he was again arrested for drunk driving. Friday a judge gave him six months in jail.

French Drinkers Urged To Change To Patriotic Pop

PARIS, June 24 (UP)—The government urged hard-drinking Frenchmen Friday to switch to soda pop in new patriotic bottles with red, white and blue labels.

The appeal was launched by Public Health Minister Bernard LaFay in the official campaign to keep the Frenchmen sober.

Former Premier Pierre Mendes-France had tried to get Frenchmen to drink milk, but without any appreciable success.

Now, LaFay announced, the government of Premier Edgar Faure favors sobriety through soda water, pop and fruit juices.

LaFay said that red, white and blue government labels will be pasted on every bottle and case of soft drinks distributed throughout France.

Roper Child, 3, Dies Of Leukemia Friday Morning

Burton Wayne Roper, 20 days short of three years old, died here Friday morning.

A victim of incurable leukemia, Wayne outlived the expectations of physicians, who, in June, 1951, gave him three to six months to live.

He died at 6:15 a.m. Friday in a local hospital.

His parents were Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Roper, Route Three, Swartz. They had known for a year that their son was expected to die in the near future.

The family gave Wayne a combined Christmas and birthday party in September, 1951, fearing he would not live to see neither of the special days.

One of those days he did see, but not the other.

Wayne was born in Bastrop on July 14, 1952. He was taken to a doctor in June, 1954, when it was realized he was seriously ill, and discovered to have leukemia.

His parents became reconciled after numerous tests to the doctor's verdict and made plans for the very special party, which came after Wayne's second birthday. The parents were too heart sick on his number two birthday to have a party.

Three times in the past two months, Wayne had been given blood in an attempt to stop approaching death. He appeared healthy almost to his death, but entered the hospital for the last time Wednesday, emphysematous, too badly to be given more blood.

Wayne's body was taken to Hall Funeral Home. Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Saturday at the Swartz Baptist Church, with the Rev. H. M. Roach, assisted by the pastor of the Loch Arbor Church, officiating.

Besides his parents, he is survived by a sister a year older than he, Belinda Lee; his paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Roper of Swartz; his maternal grandmother, Mrs. A. T. Giddings of Coushatta; and great-grandmothers, Mrs. Florence Wyatt of Monroe and Mrs. Stella Maylock of Coushatta.

Interment will be in Springhill Cemetery near Swartz.

Palbearers will be Frank Murphy, Curt Toni, Bobby Ramsey, Lavella Brizman.

Teen-Ager Pop Saleswomen Win Battle With City

TULSA, June 24 (UP)—Betty Lou and Beverly Sue won their battle against city hall red tape Friday. City fathers upheld the right of enterprising little girls to set up a soda pop stand on a hot day.

The city building inspector had ordered Betty Lou Sheppard, 15, and her sister Beverly Sue, 13, to close their soft drink stand. It said it violated city zoning ordinances. The girls refused to close up.

At a special meeting Friday afternoon, the city commission gravely took up the question which had aroused the entire neighborhood.

The commission asked the board of adjustment to give "favorable consideration" to youngsters who seek to operate soft drink stands during summer months. The board regulates zoning.

"Initiative and industry in the young people of our city should be encouraged," the mayor and commissioners resolved.

Earlier the girls moved their stand to another lot when the city pulled their charter on which successive attempts to find a loophole in city ordinances.

Workers on a housing project across the street signed petitions demanding the commission allow the stand to operate. Father Roy Sheppard said he would go to jail before closing the stand.

forego champagne wine and stronger spirits and patriotically drink the colorful pop and juices.

LaFay emphasized, at a news conference, that the label scheme was not designed to make an impression for a week or a month. He said it was aimed at the youth of France, where example and education can do the most good.

"You know the power of suggestion and the value of a picture repeated a thousand times," the health minister added.

LaFay submitted figures showing that the average Frenchman imbibes a staggering 28 liters (25 quarts) of alcohol a year. This compares with an estimated 12.5 quarts for the average Italian and eight each by Americans and Englishmen.

Ends Third Day Of Hunger Strike

MERIDIAN, Miss., June 24 (AP)—Robert S. McMillan, returned escapee from a mental hospital, today completed the third day of a hunger strike in Lauderdale County jail as officers questioned him about two slayings.

Officers said the prisoner refused to eat but drank coffee and smoked cigarettes.

The killings were: 1. Eugene Franks, 27, of Oneonta, Ala., who died when struck by a railroad train in 1949. Officers said he was placed alive on the tracks.

2. Mrs. W. T. (Aunt Emma)

Gilbert, 60, Meridian nurse, who was beaten to death and robbed May 30 near her home. Officers said McMillan denied both killings.

Series Of Bridal Parties Fete Miss Martha Ann Coon

The engagement days of Miss Martha Ann Coon continue to be filled with round the clock parties. Among the entertaining this week were Mrs. George Guier, Mrs. J. E. Walsworth, Mrs. Lewis Terry and Miss Joan Terry of Pine Bluff, Ark., Miss Pat Redford and Miss Elmer Culppeper.

Miss Guier's compliment to Miss Coon was a lovely floral bouquet. The party was held at her home on Bon Air Drive.

Various arrangements of spring flowers were used in the living room and den. A mass arrangement of daisies was used on the serving table in the dining room.

In the receiving line were: Mrs. Guier, Miss Coon, Mrs. Henson Coon, and Mr. Elmer Culppeper.

The honor guest chose for the occasion a yellow polished cotton gown with a yellow orchid shoulder corsage presented her by the hostess.

Guests enjoying the party with the hostess and the honoree were: Mrs. Elmer Culppeper, Mrs. Henson Coon, Mrs. Anne Culppeper, Mrs. W. L. Mitchell, Jr., Mrs. T. C. Drex, Mrs. John E. Coon, Mrs. L. B. Armstrong, Mrs. W. L. Mitchell, Jr., Mrs. Morgan Drex, Mrs. J. Newman Coon, Mrs. Guy Campbell, Mrs. Dan Allick, Miss Marianne Allick, Miss Carrie Dee Drex, Mrs. C. A. Caldwell, Mrs. T. C. Starnes, Miss Clara Ann Starnes, Mrs. D. X. Elliott, Miss Jo Marie Elliott, Mrs. W. L. Heron, Mrs. Frank Breere, and Mrs. Larry Fox.

Luncheon Held

On Tuesday Mrs. Walsworth entertained the bride-elect at a luncheon in her home on Park Avenue.

The luncheon table was beautifully decorated with a mass arrangement of white stock and carnations. In the living room pink roses dominated.

For the party Miss Coon chose a becoming two-tone yellow cotton. Enjoying the luncheon with Miss

Convention Will Be Held In Canada

The Altrusa International biennial convention, is scheduled for July 3 through 7, 1955 at the Royal York Hotel, Toronto, Ontario, Canada.

Discussions will be based on the new 1955-57 Altrusa program. The Altrusa club of this city will be one of 400 in seven countries (Benaula, Canada, Guatemala, Great Britain, Puerto Rico, U. S., comprising 12,000 members) — to plan next year's work in accordance with the SERVICE NOW approach to community problems as explored at convention.

Miss Mary Benoit, newly elected corresponding secretary of the Altrusa Club of Monroe — West Monroe, will be the representative from Monroe. Miss Benoit will join a group from Shreveport and Dallas, Texas, where a sightseeing trip is planned following the Altrusa twenty-fourth convention.

Cypress HDC Meets With Mrs. Blakeney

The Cypress Home Demonstration Club met for their regular meeting in the home of Mrs. Clyde Blakeney, Mrs. N. Pinton, president, presided. After the opening song, prayer was led by Mrs. Milton Owens. Roll call was answered by the amount of preserves and jellies each one had made and the amount needed for their family. A short business session followed.

The following leaders reported: Mrs. N. T. Williamson, nutrition; Mrs. Milton Owens, family life; Mrs. E. D. McGraw gave a very good demonstration on jam, jelly and preserve making.

Mrs. Blakeney was the winner during the recreation period.

Present were Mrs. G. F. Owens, Mrs. E. D. McGraw, Mrs. N. Pinton, and Danny Waggoner, the club guest.

Mrs. Milton Owens will be hostess to the July meeting.

Committee Meets With Lions Club

Mrs. William Kennedy, president of the Gilbert Woman's Club, Mrs. Jimmy Jones, Mrs. Marion Shelton and Mrs. Jack McKee were named as a committee to meet with the Lions Club of Gilbert to discuss the distribution of funds raised at the recent Community Day event. It was decided to contribute the money to the upkeep of the Gilbert Community Center.

This is one of the projects of the club, in connection with the community achievement contest, which it has entered.

Members Of DAR Have Summer Supper Party

The summer house of Mrs. W. G. Haynes, Jr., on Slack street, West Monroe, was the scene Tuesday night for one of the interesting of the week, the Chief Tusquahama Chapter, DAR's summer supper party.

The informality of the lawn party, which was held inside the summer house because of rain, brought many members and guests in attractive and colorful party dresses.

Brown bean pots filled with mass arrangements of daisies and asters graced the serving tables. Hurricane lamps were also placed on the individual tables.

Hostesses for the affair which concludes the chapter's activities until fall were in addition to Mrs. Haynes, Mrs. Roy Lee, Mrs. J. O. Miller, Mrs. J. F. Orlis, Mrs. J. O. Lally, Mrs. J. G. Rickerson and Mrs. Ed Stroad.

Enjoying the party as special guests of the chapter were Mrs. W. G. Haynes, Sr., Mrs. Jack Haynes of Houston, Texas, Mrs. Dorothy Hudson and Mrs. Herbert Richmond.

Members in attendance were: Mrs. V. O. Allen, Mrs. Victor Berg, Mrs. Jeff Caldwell, Mrs. Earl Cox, Mrs. Lela Callum, Mrs. A. L. Dickerson, Mrs. H. C. Ervin, Mrs. Matilda Hamilton, Mrs. C. S. Country Club Auxiliary Has Luncheon

TALLULAH — The last luncheon meeting of the Ladies Auxiliary of the Tallulah Country Club was held with forty members and guests in attendance. The hostesses, Mrs. W. R. Rogers and Mrs. Earl Johnson had arranged pink and red roses on the luncheon tables and at various points about the assembly hall, which added much to the pleasure of the occasion.

Mrs. George Eggleston was winner of the hostess door prize, and Mrs. Hugh Montgomery won the putting contest and received a golf ball.

Out of eleven guests included Mrs. J. B. Thompson and Mrs. Jim Shamblin of Rayville and Mrs. J. McCain of Meridian, Miss.

Miss Tucker
Is Entertained

Mrs. M. Canoy Coper and Mrs. Carver W. Cooper used garden flowers throughout the reception rooms when they entertained for Miss Melvyn Tucker whose wedding to Mr. John Randolph Cannon will take place on July 3.

Miss Tucker chose for the occasion a lovely silk print. She was presented a white split carnation corsage by her hostesses, Mrs. Tucker, the bride-elect's mother, was also presented with a corsage.

Games in keeping with the bridal theme were played and the successful winners presented gifts of linen. These in turn were presented to Miss Tucker.

The dining table, overlaid with a lace cloth, had for its decoration an arrangement of daisies and snapdragons in a large cut glass antique bowl and ivy trailing the length of the table and surrounding the punch bowl which was placed at one end of the table. A variety of open face sandwiches and cookies were served with the punch.

Invited to share this lovely occasion were: Mrs. E. J. Young and Miss Carolyn Young and Mrs. Sammie Colvin, Ruston; Mrs. Ray Turner, Hodges; Mrs. Jeanette Turner, Shreveport; Mrs. J. R. Johnson, Jr., Bastrop; Mrs. James Hawkins, Ferriday; Mrs. Maurice Oliver, Mrs. Carrie Lee Blackwell, Mrs. Marjorie Tomore, Mrs. Joe Bubnick, Mrs. Vaughn Phelps, Mrs. Buddy Hamacher, Mrs. F. A. Adams, Mrs. B. F. Cummings, Mrs. Frank Buck, Mrs. Johnny Clark, Jr., Mrs. Marjorie Edmonson, Mrs. Leon Fife, Mrs. Alma Smith, Mrs. E. S. 750 Children
Take Shots In Franklin Parish

WINNSBORO, June 24 (Special).—The Franklin Parish Health Unit reported today that 750 children have been given their second shot of Salk polio vaccine. This is approximately 61 per cent of the 1,183 first and second graders of Franklin parish who received the first injection of the vaccine.

According to Mrs. R. E. Applewhite of the Franklin Parish Health Unit, a make-up clinic will be held at the health unit office in Winnsboro Tuesday, June 28, at 9 o'clock a.m. and all children who have not received the second injection of the vaccine are requested to report to the health unit at this time.

Watson HDC
Meets With
Mrs. Kelley

An interesting discussion on being well dressed for street or church highlighted the June meeting of the Watson Home Demonstration Club held in the home of Mrs. W. J. Kelley, Mrs. Euna D. Spielman, parish agent, gave the demonstration on proper costumes.

Mrs. J. C. Rayner, president, presided over the business portion of the meeting. Prayer was led by Mrs. T. R. Jones.

The club voted against meeting in July and August, scheduling the next meeting for September in the school cafeteria.

Plans were made for serving refreshments at the council meeting in July.

Mrs. T. T. Jones called for the following reports: Garden, Mrs. W. T. Kelley; nutrition, Mrs. J. C. Rayner; clothing, Mrs. J. G. Peacock.

In discussing being well dressed, Mrs. Spielman explained, this is not a matter of a large income, but a matter of good taste and judgment in the choice of dress.

Later Mrs. Spielman gave out helpful hints for destroying harmful insects in the home.

Mrs. Kelley served refreshments to the following: Mrs. J. C. Rayner, Mrs. T. T. Jones, Mrs. Euna D. Spielman, Mrs. T. R. Jones, Mrs. J. G. Peacock, Mrs. Ruby Hibbard, Kathy and Nancy Peacock, Darryl Rayner, Bill Kelley.

Calorie Clubs For Fat Folks
Have Industry's Blessing

Have you a Calorie Club in your town?

A few weeks ago several newspapers carried announcements that clubs for fat folks were springing up in a number of places around the country, and that they were springing up with industry's blessing.

Large companies have discovered that overweight people are likely to become accident prone—that is, they are more likely to have accidents than their slimmer fellow workers. Thus, in order to help reduce accidents which lower production and efficiency, companies actually are encouraging their employees to form reducing clubs.

Overweight people are more likely to be ill and stay away from work. When people in key jobs stay away from work too much, the work of the whole plant suffers. Hence, overweight people are not so likely to be given key jobs, or at least jobs that call for steady, dependable attendance.

Doctors tell us that more than 95 per cent of all overweight is caused by overeating. It is as simple as that. The rest of the overweight population have some medical reason for being fat.

If you are overweight and you want to diet, you might check with your doctor first just to make sure that you're not one of the per cent of the people who are overweight for some medical reason. When you get your O. K. from your doctor, get a few of your fatter friends together and start a calorie club. I'll be glad to send you a calorie chart if you'd like one. Write to me, Josephine Lowman, in care of this newspaper, and just say, "Calorie Chart." Be sure to enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Don't tie your club down with too many rules. It is a good idea, however, to have regular meetings and weighings. In fact, all your club needs is a will and a weigh—the will to reduce and the weigh to check on progress. A good goal for each member would be to lose two pounds a week.

Before you try any kind of dieting at mealtime, try eliminating entirely the between-meal snack. Also put candy and desserts on the forbidden list. By keeping away from these items, you may discover that you are able to lose more than that two pounds a week.

Tomorrow: More suggestions for your calorie club.

Auditor Hits 'Lax'
Record-Keeping
In Vernon Parish

BATON ROUGE, June 24 (AP).—The State Auditor today criticized the Vernon Parish Police Jury for lax record keeping, making large purchases without asking bids and other irregularities.

The report signed by State Auditor Allison Kolb said "the comments contained herein are largely repetitions of criticisms made in several previous reports."

The report covered the year ending Dec. 31, 1954.

The audit criticized distribution of road funds evenly among wards, instead of according to needs.

"Use of parish property, materials and equipment continued to be unaccounted for in any degree," the report charged. "Payment for materials and supplies were made on the sole authority of the individual police jurors with little supporting evidence as to use to which the material were put, where delivered or by whom received."

It said "purchase of lumber, gravel and other materials and supplies in excess of $1,000 were made during the year without first advertising for bids."

The report also said:

1. The jury had made a flat $125 allowance to each juror and the treasurer for expenses attending a convention and required no evidence of expenditure.

2. The jury should obtain reimbursement for $257.72 on claims for expenses of retroactive retirement contributions.

3. The jury paid the Bailey Electric Company of D-Rider Lake for repairs on equipment and should obtain a $73.34 refund.

4. The bank deposits of jury funds were not properly protected by a pledge of securities.

In another report, Kolb said Ariel B. Cavanaugh, Vernon Parish assessor, was "personally responsible for incurring a deficit in his expense fund." The deficit totalled $798.78.

The audit also said expenditures for operation of the assessor's office in some instances were not adequately supported.

Another report said the Union Parish Police Jury also made a flat travel allowance for jurors attending the convention and did not require receipts to back up the spending.

The report also said the Police Jury purchased two dump trucks costing a total of $1,522.12 without asking bids.

'Little Inch' System
FPC Approves
Converting Gas
Lines To Oil

WASHINGTON, June 24 (AP).—The Power Commission today authorized Texas Eastern Transmission Corp., Shreveport, La., to convert part of its "Little Inch" natural gas pipeline system for transportation of petroleum products and build replacements for the gas service.

Texas Eastern will retire about 1,168 miles of pipeline and five compressor stations between Baytown, Tex., and Moundsville, W. Va., from gas service and convert them for petroleum products. It will also retire part of the compressor capacity at 16 other stations.

The new facilities to handle natural gas will include about 48.5 miles of pipeline, 10 new compressor stations and additional capacity in existing stations. The commission said these facilities together with existing facilities will adequately replace the service now given by the Little Inch system.

The commission said total estimated cost of the facilities needed to replace the services being retired is $71,814,000.

Texas Eastern may not abandon any part of the existing system until replacement facilities have been constructed.

The commission's action followed a decision announced April 13 by examiner Emory Woodall that Texas Eastern should be allowed to carry out the conversion.

The order directs Texas Eastern to begin construction of the new facilities within 60 days and to complete the project within 18 months.

The commission said Texas Eastern introduced evidence which indicated the proposed rearrangement would result in a reduction in the cost of service.

It also said that when Texas Eastern acquired the Big Inch and Little Inch lines from the federal government in 1947 the agreement gave the company the right to use the facilities for either gas or petroleum products.

Noting that the government sale was conditioned with provisions that the lines could be taken over again in the event of national emergency, the commission said "it is decidedly in the public interest to remove from the customers of Texas Eastern the threat that the government may exercise the re- capture provisions."

DOROTHY DIX

Should Mother Interfere?

Divorcee Daughter
Needs Good Advice

By DOROTHY DIX

DEAR MISS DIX: My daughter and her son have lived with me for the past five years. She is divorced and goes to business while I take care of the boy. Now Velma is planning to marry again, but she says she is going to continue working so they can buy a house.

My ideas are different. I don't want to be a difficult mother but I think if she remarries she should stay home and take care of her son. Also, she wants to have a big wedding, and I can't see that either. She didn't think that way when she married the first time—she ran off and neither her father nor I saw her married. Now there's this big fuss over a second marriage.

Perhaps I'm wrong; if so, you can set me straight.

ANSWER: On the contrary, I uphold you on every point. Your daughter's place is with her child, and a second marriage should make provision for him. What will happen, probably, is that she'll continue working, leaving the boy with you until he's old enough to care for himself. Then she'll come and take him, just when he can be of help to you.

DON'T BEAR THEIR BURDENS

Perhaps her second husband doesn't want the responsibility so they're shunting it on to you. Have none of it! There's such a thing as making life too easy for others. You were willing to take them in the first place, thereby making the divorce possible.

Velma has grown accustomed to her own life run in her own way, avoiding all obligation to her child, and she intends to continue along these lines. Her impulsive gesture in getting married the first time further indicates this. It's about time she was stopped.

You came to the rescue once; don't make a habit of it. As for the wedding, in the interests of good taste it should be small and conservative.

DEAR MISS DIX: Do you know of a correspondence club for the physically handicapped? I'd love to get acquainted with others similarly afflicted.

ANSWER: Perhaps there are readers who would be interested in writing this young lady. Any mail will be cheerfully forwarded.

DEAR MISS DIX: Two weeks before I went to boot camp, I met a very nice girl and asked her to write to me. All during training I wrote, and she answered. I appreciated her letters a lot. When I got home I messaged things up. Twice I was supposed to take her out and never showed up. Then I told her I was sick and she found out I wasn't. However, I never did take another girl out. I called her just before I left and asked if she would write but she said she didn't think so. I miss her letters and would like to get her back. How can I do it?

ANSWER: Well, I don't blame the girl for not continuing the correspondence after such shabby treatment. She undoubtedly feels that, while she's good enough to write letters, she isn't good enough to get your personal attention.

Try writing her a letter of apology, explaining the entire situation, no matter how insignificant it makes you feel, and await results. Consider yourself a lucky boy if you get a letter.

Write DOROTHY DIX for free leaflet D-1, "Mothers-in-Law." In all cases, be sure to enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope and send request to her, care of this newspaper.

One month ago the Baton Rouge foundry was threatened to close because of high production costs. Many foundry workers moved away in search of other jobs, but most stayed behind. Last Saturday they voted to accept pay cuts that would lower their average salary from $2.67 an hour to $2.66.

In Cleveland, Ohio, Friday the Eaton board of directors thanked the workers for their concern in helping the foundry remain on its feet and announced the Vassar plant will be reopened Aug. 1 after

On Map Because Workers Took Cut

VASSAR, Mich., June 24 (AP).—The community of Vassar will remain on the map because workers at the town's only factory were willing to take a 61-cent hourly pay cut to keep it there, officials of the factory said Friday.

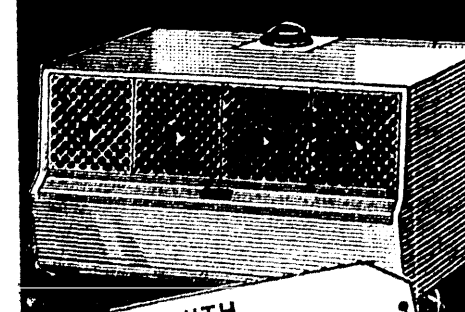

Whether the town of 2,700 persons would continue to grow or be allowed to become a "ghost town" hinges on the fate of the Eaton Manufacturing Co., which has a foundry in Vassar.

One month ago the Eaton Co. threatened to close the foundry because of high production costs. Many foundry workers moved away in search of other jobs, but most stayed behind. Last Saturday they voted to accept pay cuts that would lower their average salary from $2.67 an hour to $2.66.

In Cleveland, Ohio, Friday the Eaton board of directors thanked the workers for their concern in helping the foundry remain on its feet and announced the Vassar plant will be reopened Aug. 1 after

15th Child Born To Brooklyn Pair

NEW YORK, June 24 (AP)—A baby arrived today at Long Island College Hospital, the 15th child born to Mrs. Thomas Walsh, 41. It is a girl, Laureen, 7 pounds 10 ounces.

Walsh, 36, an Irish-American, was at the hospital when the child was born. She said she was "very happy" and "very tired."

Walsh and her other 14 children have kept their home in the Brooklyn apartment since Mrs. Walsh went to the hospital Monday.

"We didn't come much together," she said, "but we were all right," said one of the daughters.

Mrs. Walsh reportedly had wished secretly for a boy, to bring about a more even balance in the family. The other 14 children, ranging in age from 3 to 21 years of age, are eight girls and six boys.

Sugar Producers Ask Larger Share Of U. S. Market

WASHINGTON, June 24 (AP)—Domestic sugar producers asked Congress today for a larger share of the U. S. sugar market. They were told by Chairman Harold Cooper (D-N.Y.) of the House Agriculture Committee, the favored domestic help for them but indicated it should not be as much as they asked.

Meanwhile, Gerald Heatter of the Detroit Board of Commerce, opposed the domestic sugar act already passed, saying the sugar act already passed is a "disastrous annual market and harm to ability of other countries to buy U. S. products."

Chairman Cooper, presiding over committee hearings on sugar legislation, said while he favored some help to the domestic producers, complaining of burdensome quotas, he cannot sell under quota restrictions, it is difficult for us to pass a bill the President of the United States does not want.

This apparently is a recommendation of the domestic producers, get some relief in 1955. The producers want a larger share of the annual increase in U. S. consumption than the administration proposed, and they want it in 1955.

Representatives of sugar cane growers in Louisiana, and of beet sugar farmers in the Middle West and Far West told the committee that farmers felt they were being "punished" by "increased" quotas.

The hearings, moving slowly due to the number of witnesses and political discussions of the government's general price support program, is to continue through Tuesday. Originally it was planned to end the hearings tomorrow, but they were later extended to Monday.

Make a tasty sponge cake frosting with strawberries mashed and mixed with powdered sugar. Add a little fresh lemon juice to give a slight tartness. Garnish the cake with the whole berries.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Subcommittee Hearings On Dixon-Yates Contract Slated; May Open Monday

WASHINGTON, June 24 (AP)—A Senate subcommittee today scheduled hearings on the controversial Dixon-Yates power contract.

Chairman Kilgore (D-W.Va.) announced appointment of the subcommittee headed by Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn.). Other members are Sens. Langer (R-ND) and O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.).

He said that it would look into new aspects of the Dixon-Yates matter on which a committee conducted hearings last year.

Kefauver's office disclosed later that the first witness before the subcommittee will be budget director Rowland Hughes.

He will be asked about activities of the Budget Bureau in connection with a contract negotiated with the Dixon-Yates private power group by the Atomic Energy Commission.

Under that agreement the Mississippi Valley Generating Co. was formed by the Southern Co. and Middle States Utilities, Inc., to build a power plant at West Memphis, Ark.

The plant was proposed to feed back into the Tennessee Valley Authority (TVA) replacement energy for TVA power used by AEC plants.

The Dixon-Yates controversy is before the courts, Congress and the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC).

Much of the SEC questioning revolved around the dual capacity of Adolph Wenzell as a vice president of First Boston Corporation, a New York financing house, and as unpaid consultant to the Budget Bureau during early stages of dis-
